(November, 1902)

P R E F A C E

D.r Ulrico Hoepli was kind enough to entrust me with the care of compiling a Manual of Commercial Correspondence, which was not only to show the modern activity and the large development which business attained to nowadays, but ought to penetrate at the same time in the spirit of the language, exhibiting thus a logical and rational text to the different manuals to be published in the principal European languages.

But, as regards the present Part, I beg to declare at once that, had I been intentioned to publish a standard English text, I ought to have left out all redundant words and additional expressions more peculiar to the Italian, Spanish and French languages, as it is well known English Commercial letters, in current use, are couched in the abrupt « wire style » very slightly extended. This work however having been compiled and elaborated particularly for the purpose of giving young men the opportunity to practise and perfect themselves in Polyglot Mercantile Correspondence through translations and imitations from one or other language, its style, consequently, was to be maintained possibly undiversified, so much the more as a short stay in a counting house will easily enable practitioners to cut short.

As to the general plan of this work, I will say that the collection contains models of letters of almost every kind, relating to the different occurrences of mercantile life, and there is perhaps no establishment of any importance in which some of the examples given, with little alteration, could not but be used.

Most letters were written by me when a trader myself or during my career as a correspondent; they have thus originated actually in and by business transactions. In my choice I was guided by the principle to compile a correspondence of general character, thus letters peculiar to a limited number of traders have been laid aside, it being quite impossible to insert, in a little manual, models of such a multiform kind of correspondence.

As to their classification I followed the logical order of the different phases in which business presents itself, giving thus rise to distinct groups, a method adopted with success by me in an other little work of the same nature and purpose (1).

(1) GAETANO FRISONI. — Manual de Correspondencia Commercial Portuguesa com traducção em forma de notas das phrases, esprezoes e termos mais difficeis nas linguas Hespanhola, Italiana, Franceza, Inglesza, Hollandeza e Allema para uso das Escolas de Commercio e dos Negociantes de qualquer nação que desejam aprender a correspondencia portugueza e para os Portuguezes ou Brasileiros que querem aperfeiçoar-se na phraseologia commercial de ditas linguas. — Genova 1895. 1 vol. Fr. 2,50.

In almost all letters and forms I thought proper to reproduce, as far as possible, the friezes, ornaments and vignettes as they are met with in actual commercial writings, and I have inserted the documents in the text, having them playing a proper part in the different commercial transactions.

To complete the present manual I added, besides an Abridged Mercantile Dictionary, exhibiting a list of commercial terms with their definitions, a short English and Italian Vocabulary containing the principal expressions employed in trade, commerce and shipping concern, and the most important terms of Bank, Book-keeping, Stock-Exchange and Railway. I thought it was apt to smooth difficulties both to English and American merchants having business with Italy, and to Italian young men who wish to devote themselves to trade transactions with England and North America.

I edit this English part without any pretention to have compiled an irreproachable work, but I feel confident that those who wish to inure themselves to commercial style will find in it a practical utility.

Should I have attained the purpose aimed at, to be somehow useful to students and merchants, it would be for me the best and most flattering reward.

Genoa, November 1 st, 1902.

Prof. CAJETAN FRISONI.

A few words on the Third edition

I feel much contentment in presenting to pupils and merchants this third edition of my Commercial English Correspondence. It ought, possibly, to have been renewed, to keep it up with daily progress, but unluckly the text of this Manual, though original, could not admit of any important novations, inasmuch as it must strictly correspond to those of the other five volumes, for it is to be the translation or key to them. I did not fail, however, to revise it carefully, ameliorating it as regards the peculiar expressions and commercial style. Besides, having taken into consideration that after the additions inserted into this new edition, the Manual is to be considered as complete and the different branches of business developped to a full extent, all letters and documents are now marked in the margin with a new progressive number, leaving however in the center ahead, within parenthesis, the previous one to be of assistance to those who use as keys volumes of this Polyglot Correspondence of pre-existent editions.

The lexicographical section was the only one I could handle with at my will and pleasure, so that, besides improving the English-Italian Vocabulary appended to this volume, I augmented the condensed Dictionary, which now represents a complete list of commercial terms and expressions with their general definitions.

Hoping that this Manual so enlarged and, if effects correspond to my intentions, also improved, may be of sufficient utility to those who devote themselves to foreign commerce, I seize this opportunity to thank in advance all my friends—who will kindly contribute to its further diffusion.

Dear Sirs: — I am in possession of your circular of the first January last, which informs me you have established in your town a commission house. I duly took notice of your offers of service, but, before availing myself of them, I would wish to know your terms. Should they offer, as I hope some advantages, I will profit of the first favorable occasion for commencing business relations with you, which will, in a short while, become very important if, beside cheap prices, I will be more satisfied with your expeditions than with those of Mr. Vallega, my present agent, whose shipments are not always made with that regularity and punctuality requested in trade, which were a prerogative of this house in the beginning of our relations. Awaiting your kind answer, I remain

Dear Sirs: — We have received your circular of the 16 th inst. and wish you every success in your enterprise. Carbonate of soda, mark “Star „ in barrels of 125 kilos each, is the only article mentioned in your price-current, which presently calls our attention. Its moderate quotation permits us to resell it, with a modest benefit, to a glass manufactory carried on by some friends of ours. Be so kind as to send us 5 barrels, and, as you are well acquainted with this article, you will know what quality we require for the use above mentioned, therefore we rely entirely on your decision. Please forward us the goods, in the best condition possible, by the first steamer leaving for Genoa, effecting their insurance in the “Anglo-Lisbonian Company's „ of your town, and draw upon us, for the amount of your invoice, at two months' date, allowing us however a commission of 2 % as a special benefit.

It will afford us much pleasure if this small order gives rise to a profitable correspondence between us.

Gentlemen,

We have the pleasure to inform you that we have just now formed, in this city, a company which will be devoted to the trade of inland produce, in general, and to business on commission, in particular, under the social firm having its chief-office at Pernambuco and a branch-house at Bahia.

The knowledge and experience we have early acquired in the commercial career, as well in our own land as in foreign countries, the help of rich and respectable friends, who favour us with their confidence and esteem, the honorable testimony that may be had of us from the firms at foot mentioned, to which we can take the liberty to refer you, let us feed a hope that we have some right to your benevolence.

In offering you the services of our house, we can assure you that all the affairs, which will be intrusted to our cares, shall be transacted with the utmost attention, and that whatever, activity and prudence, united to a constant zeal and a severe economy, can effectuate, shall be exerted on our part, in order to deserve the approbation of the firms which will honour us with their orders. Wishing to find an opportunity of proving to you the sincerity of our offers, and to cultivate a correspondence to our mutual satisfaction, we beg you to take note of our signatures, and we have the honor to be respectfully, your devoted servants

Dear Sirs: — We are informed that on the first April next your « King Edward VII » will arrive at Naples. We think this vessel must have a dirty bottom, in as much as she has not been docked since six months, and therefore she wants an immediate cleaning

We beg to offer you our services in case you should feel inclined to give us order to present. In your name, a solicitation to the « Neapolitan dry dock Co. » to allow your steamer to come into dock on the 2nd April next, because a fixed date must be stated if you wish to have a regular docking turn. We see no difficulty in case of necessity in cleaning the bottom of this vessel with the cargo in her holds, because the quantity which remains on board, to be carried afterward to Genoa, is so small that the difference in the ship's draught will be slight.

We think that the ship's complete scraping and coating can be executed in one day if you make use of our renowned submarine painting « Nec plus ultra » which we are disposed to sell you, as per inclosed price-list, at a very reduced price. In such a case your steamer should only pay the dock dues for a twenty four hours' stay. You shall be easily persuaded that if you charge us with your steamer's docking, scraping and coating you are to realize a remarkable saving in the three operations, what affords us the hope that you will be induced to give us the preference.

Mr. Vincent VilleroyleBORDEAUXMy dear Sir,

I am just now informed by Messrs. Villar & Kiers, that the clerkship for carrying on correspondence is vacant in your office.

Give me then leave, sir, to seize, the present favorable opportunity of being admitted in your respectable office.

I believe I can say, without any fear of violating the laws of modesty, I am capable of occupying the vacant place being since eight years intrusted with the English, German, and Spanish correspondence at Mr. B. Guindeau's. I am, further, familiarly acquainted with book-keeping by single and double entry, as it was my principal occupation during five years at Messrs. If besides, you desire to know the opinion of other persons about my capacity, I can refer you to your friends Messrs. Villani & Morglant, under whose auspices I beg to address you the present letter, who will give on this head, and on my moral conduct, all the informations you may wish to have.

Be assured that if you comply with my request, I shall do every thing in my power to justify the confidence you will have honored me with. Milan, the 15th March 191..

Dear Sir: — The wish to make a request of you induces me to write this letter, which, I hope, will not be disregarded.

Being an assistant in the counting office of Messrs. Pollinini & Macciò of this town, an extensive business in drugs, colonial produce and dyes, your honorable firm is well known to me, as one of the most important at Havre in this branch of commerce.

Now, as it has long been my wish to procure a situation in such a house like yours, I beg to explain you my position as briefly as possible.

I am in my thirty fifth year; I have attended the Superior commercial school at Venice for three years, where I got the diploma of a Licentiate in commercial sciences; I assisted six years in the house of Messrs. Moreno & Grüber of Turin, where I took part in every branch of the business, both in the warehouse and counting-office; I spent afterward two years at Mr. Bianchi's as a travelling-clerk and I have been occupying the place of chief book-keeper at my present employer's, Mr. Molteni, these twenty months.

You will see from the different testimonials herewith enclosed, that, without flattering myself, I am not spoken of unfavorably. Modern languages have always been my favourite study; I am not inexperienced in French, German, Italian, and Spanish correspondence, and I have acquired a thorough knowledge of the manufacture, preparation and confection of various kind of merchandises.

Allow me to close my letter with the remark that, if in consequence of my testimonials you take into consideration my wish to enter your employment, appointments are less an object with me than the opportunity of extending my knowledge, which a situation in Havre would easily afford, with perhaps the possibility of making voyages from thence to foreign countries.

In apologizing once more for having taken up so much of your time, I venture to hope, being assured of your kindness by a friend, that you will favor me with a reply, and beg to subscribe myself

Dear Sir: — Availing ourselves of your kindness we apply to you in order to have a confidential information of which, you may rely upon it, we shall do a prudent use.

The Gentleman indicated on the enclosed card, who possesses in your town a large warehouse, has just been in on business. Although we did not give him any encouragement, nay we kept on the reserve, he purchased an important lot of goods (amounting to 7500 frs. or thereabouts). He bought in a careless manner, without making any choise or showing a commercial criterion, what created a bad impression with us.

The information we have just taken at the Belgian Inquiry Office, concerning his credit, is not reassuring, so that we beg you to tell us frankly your opinion about him.

Consider he owes us:

Frs. 2500	payable on the	1 st April next
3000	"	15 th "
2500	"	1 st May "

Please to observe that these payments are in close proximity to one another, that is 8000 frs. in the course of one month, besides he wants us to make the delivery of the goods, just purchased, on the 20 th April, fixed date.

Of course, by a plausible excuse, we shall delay this delivery until the first days of May when we surely know whether he has honored our last bill. But supposing he meets his engagements, will it be prudent to forward the goods just bought, opening thus a new account of 7500 francs?

This is what we want to know from you by wire. We thank you in advance and remain

Dear Sir: — The bearer of the present letter, Mr. John Diaz, a merchant of Santa Cruz, and my particular friend, is on his first voyage to Italy and intends making some important purchases in your market, where he has not yet any correspondents, as he has hitherto done all his business in Naples through Commission-Agents.

Having requested me to recommend him to a house of good standing and respectability, to which he might entrust the purchase of the goods he may be in want of, I pitched at once on yours with the conviction I could not give him a better proof of the interest I take in the success of his affairs, and that you would do all in your power to secure this connection and prove that my recommendation has not been misplaced.

Need I add how grateful I shall feel for your kind attention to my friend? I judge it quite redundant and I beg to remain

Yours sincere

Anthony Compodor.

As soon as we have received your orders we shall remit you the invoice, to cover which you will kindly forward us a cheque payable in Paris; on receipt, it will be our duty to send you directly the goods. This would be the general rule followed by us in our transactions with new clients; however if you would prefer another way of payment, and if it would not interfere with your credit in any manner, we would propose that the goods purchased should be sent through Mr. W. STOCK, a representative of foreign houses, established in your town. Although they differ somewhat from the usual ones, the desire of opening a connection with your respectable firm, obliges us to accept them partly, for this first time.

If we have well understood, you inform us in your letter that it is an affair of 150 to 200 pieces of cotton-cloth, style Nos. 1 and 2 you want, at the price of Lires 0,55 a meter, discount 2 %, goods delivered free of charges at Elberfeld Station, valuing on you at 90 days from the invoice date. We beg to tell you, while accepting your conditions which offer so small a margin, we shall not strike this bargain unless you send in an order for 200 pieces at least, and you reduce the discount to 1 %.

Should these proposals suit you, we shall immediately send you by goods-train all we have on hand, and the rest as soon as it enters from weaving-ooms. Awaiting your reply in order to begin work, we remain

I considered attentively upon your instructions, but the clauses you fix on, hinder me from executing the commission. I am very sorry for that, so much the more. I would have had the opportunity to augment my business relations with your respectable house, but frankly speaking the conditions you impose on differ so much from those practised with all my friends of your town that I cannot accept them. I hope a more favorable occasion will not be long in presenting itself, giving me a chance to continue our good relations, and putting me in condition to serve you to your full satisfaction. Mr. M. Venci

Sampierdarena

Dear Sir. — I have just received your letter of the 27 th February last, and I am greatly surprised at your complaints. You wish to prove I have charged you a higher price than any other customers in your town. There is evidently a misunderstanding on your part

The felts I forwarded to Mr. Viganego, are by no means of the same quality as those I sent to you; you can easily convince yourself of the fact by comparing the two stuffs and, if you can then prove to me the contrary, I shall leave the four grosses of felts, I forwarded you, for nothing.

I looked over the parcel myself, and I made up the invoice; the prices marked on it, no doubt, are the most equitative. You may be fully persuaded I should not think of overcharging a firm like yours, with which I have had an excellent connection for so long a time, without giving a regular notice in advance stating the motive, which ought to be plausible.

Trusting to have put things to right, I remain

Dear Sir: — We are in receipt of your favour of the 14th instant, and in reply we beg to say we regret very much to be unable to make any difference in the prices we have quoted. We should be vexed to miss this affair, for we have long desired to do business with your honourable firm, but your offers are so little in accordance with the actual current rate, that we should prefer losing the bargain rather than negotiate it under cost price.

Since two months textiles look up, and should we desire to keep the market imitating other manufacturers, we would be induced to raise rather than diminish our quotations. In fact we have decided to make new tariffs on the 1st January next, which will be 5 % higher than the present ones. We would advise you therefore to avail yourself of the favorable opportunity and to send us at once a good commission. We trust if you make inquiries, as to the price, of any other firm, you shall decide upon giving us the preference by sending us your orders.

Dear Sirs: — Your favour of yesterday is to hand. We hasten to answer you that it is a matter of course a new price-current should annul the preceding one. We make it a rule, when goods are ordered, to charge them at the quotations of our price-list in force at the specified time. Our present price-current is N.º 11 and dates from February 1st last. However, being anxious to meet the desire of our friends, as far as possible, and considering your order of the 14th February as a supplement to last winter's commission, we will invoice still the casks at the prices of the preceding sending. This is an exceptional favour, and we trust it will help to increase our connections, but, however the desire to do business with your house may be great, we are to be clear on this point in future, and we must ask you henceforth to comply with our terms, which are invariable for any friend of ours.

PAINT FACTORY

NAPLES

Gentlemen: — I had an opportunity to see a dying stuff grinding machine, and a white lead washing machine of a new system of your own making. As both seem to have some interest for me, I will be pleased if you send me your illustrated catalogue with your lowest prices for goods delivered free of charges at Naples Railway station.

I beg you to let me also know your sale terms and to point me out the guarantees you can give me for the regular working and long lasting of your machines. Should they, as well as prices, satisfy me so as to induce me to introduce your machines in my factory, I will order you one, for each quality, by way of a trial, and should it be followed by a good result, I will buy of you at least six. I tell you this for your government in charging prices.

Awaiting your reply, I remain yours truly

Gentlemen: — As we desire to make a complete electrical installation in our offices and dependencies, we beg you to send here a technical person to survey our establishment with the purpose to make up for us an estimate of cost for said installation. In order to give you an idea of the importance of the work to be done, and to induce you to quote us your lowest prices and to grant us the best terms, we tell you that besides the complete supply of light appliances for above 8000 candles, and 30 ventilators of a large diameter, you must deliver us the engine for the development of the necessary power and several motors for the working of 20 pumps for the decanting of our troughs.

We feel confident that beside studying all possible economy and supplying us with first rate articles, you will charge us such low prices in order to beat the competition of other electric Companies that offered us their services with very convenient proposals as to the sinking of the cost of the installation materials.

We expect your kind reply and remain yours truly

Blanch of Cadiz, on board the s/s "Jean Bart," of the Marseillian Co. The steamer is lying, since yesterday, in our port, and to-morrow I hope to succeed in having the goods carried into my warehouses in bond. I shall use my best exertions to sell them off and inform of it Mr. Blanch. I expect to hand, to our friend, within short, a satisfactory account-sale because the stock on market is limited and quite composed of inferior quality and we remark, in these last days, prices are keeping up.

Doubtlessly everything depends on the influence that cargoes expected, within the week, from Brazil and the United States, may have on the markets of Liverpool and London.

Mr. B. Nathany engages himself to sell and deliver on the 30 th October next, in his residence aforementioned at Lille, to Mr. M. It is moreover agreed that, would not Mr. Massard acknowledge the merchandise to be of the first quality, and refused to accept it, it shall be submitted to the examination of two experts designated by the parts, and should said experts not accord or fall in with, they are to appoint a third one, in their choice, and in want of him, the Tribunal of Lille shall delegate an arbitrator.

In every case, the covenanters declare to conform themselves to the decision of said arbitrators and they renounce to any contrary pretention.

It is also agreed that, should the experts declare, at the arrival of the merchandise, it were not of the quality specified in this contract, Mr. Nathany, the seller, shall not be obliged to deliver any other, provided he proves, in good faith, through his correspondents' letters or by any other legal manner, that it was precisely the merchandise negotiated he intended and meant to sell; in such a case the purchaser will be free to accept it at the price established in this contract or at the price fixed by said experts, had they really recognized the inferiority of the potash. Gentlemen: — In reply to your favour of yesterday we much regret that our last delivery did not meet with your approval. This astonishes us so much the more as we have never had, during the twenty years we transact business with this article, any complaints, as to our dyes not being fast. Please to cut a large sized sample from the most defective piece, and we will submit it to our dyer, whose reputation is well known, and by next post we shall arrange this matter according to the rules of equity. BASEL

Dear Sirs: — Your favour of yesterday enclosing pattern cut from the piece N. 718, noisette extra wool-stuff, invoiced and forwarded on the 26th April last, duly came to hand. We deeply regret that this piece escaped our notice. You are perfectly right; it is indeed damaged or rather it has been burnt on the dye. Please to return it by goods train, costs unpaid, to the "Drawback Office," Goods Depot, Mulhausen RR. Station, and we will credit you with the carriage and custom duty you paid for it.

We beg to assure you we will take such due precautions that this inconvenience shall not occur again.

As regards the pieces of single-shaded chevots Nos. 17 & 17 bis, we can affirm to you they are exactly, both for quality and shading, as the sample-types submitted to you by our Representative. It is not customary with us to manufacture special cuts for our pattern-collections. They, as honesty demands, are taken off from the pieces ready for sale, and in case of renewing our stock, our makes do not vary. The defect you remark in the lightness is more apparent than real; it is solely owing to the process of dyeing and finishing.

We cannot allow any discount for packing, having to pay it ourselves the price we charge to our friends. Please to return us, carriage free, the empty case; if in good condition, we will credit you for its value as per our special rate for void pack-casings sent back to us.

Always devoted to your valued orders, we remain, with particular respect,

Yours very truly

Dear Sirs: — We are quite astonished at your way of dealing with us. We received your invoice amounting to £. 190.12.0 and gave immediately order to balance it, when your Banker insisted upon our paying £. 331.0.3, that is to say the value of coal and freight while the latter, as customary, is to be paid on unloading, and right

Only as a token of friendship towards your Agents, we offered to pay at once £. 280.0.0, and the remaining sum when the coal were completely unloaded, but our proposal having been rejected, we refused to take delivery of our lot. When you wired authorizing us to pay only £. 280.0.0 it was too late, in as much as the coal was already landed and sold to another firm.

Dear Sir: — In reply to your favor of the 10 th inst. we have the pleasure of informing you that we willingly accept your offer to act in our behalf in Genoa and district, on the following conditions:

It is our wish you call on our friends at least three times a year in the months just as you find it answer. Per parcel-post we send you the illustrated catalogue of our articles, and under registered cover our telegraphic code and one hundred price-lists. Dear Sir: — Your favor of the 12 th inst. duly to hand. Contents being noted, we answer as follows:

Remarks on orders received. — We have taken good notice of Mr. Palazzi's and Mr. Michetti's fresh orders, which are having our careful attention and will be sent away at the end of the month, as they desire.

Article sold out. — The style N. 615 is entirely sold out both in colours and in the gray; in consequence inform Mr. Lanzi we cannot send the piece ordered. Please to propose style N. 615^{bis}, m. 1.20 in breadth, to replace, it is a similar article.

Styles 149/194. — Mr. Merani orders 2 pieces of styte 149 at 3 frs. 15, while its price, as you well know, is 6 frs. 25. Would he perhaps not mean style 194, the cost of which is just 3 frs. 15? No doubt he has reversed the figures. Call on him and see how this matter stands, informing us by return of post.

Every description on hand

Dear Sir: — We are in receipt of your esteemed letter of the 10 inst. and duly noted its contents.

Extra discount. — It was arranged, it is true, with Messrs. Vinck & Schebb that at the end of the year we should allow them an extra discount of $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent on the total amount of business, if it surpassed 8,000 Marks. Up to the end of last year they only reached 7256 Marks. The difference is small, but there is a question of principle which we wish to adhere to. An exception made by us to-day, might form a precedent in the future, and we could be induced to allow an extra $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent on any business we might do with them. Kindly explain this to Messrs. Vinck & Schebb in the best possible manner and try to convince them.

Difference in measurement. — To avoid long questions we are willing to pass Mr. Bartsch's exorbitant claim, and write to him that we give him a credit for Mk. 18.70 for difference in measurement, though his claim is not justified. Our pieces are measured by machine and sold as such; Mr. Barsch measures over the table and we cannot possibly agree. When you have an opportunity, please inform him that our condescending now, must not form a precedent for future transactions, as such an allowance means granting him an extra discount.

Jobbed article. — Please to tell Messrs. Garland & Co. that we have no more of the article they order and we shall not make any till next month; to serve them we tried to procure some from one of our costumers here, to whom we jobbed it, but unfortunately he has also sold it out.

Retirement of a partner. — A circular received to-day apprises us that Mr. Werder, of the Firm Branck & Werder of your town, is retiring. We fear his withdrawing from business will affect the credit of the house, being he the wealthiest partner: — what is your opinion about it?

Dear Sir: — Without any favours from you to answer, we beg you to note the following informations on the subject of some commissions we received from several correspondents of your town.

Article not in stock. — Mr. Forlano orders half a piece style N.º 871 without indicating the price. We have not such a number in our collections. There is surely a mistake in the first figure; we fancy he meant to ask us N. 471 or 571, which we sent him several times in the past. Call on him and write us word what it should be, for we will, possibly, meet his desire.

Shawls on sale for account. — Please to inform all our friends that we send no longer our shawls on approbation or on sale or return; we used to do so, but as the goods not kept by the customers came back out of condition, we have given it up.

Observations on some textiles. — For your guidance, the article N.º 851 roughs a little if rubbed and N.º 754 is a herringbone which becomes slightly shiny; it is an unavoidable defect in this class of weaving. - Try to hurry the sale of N.º 712, we have still 20 pieces in stock and we fear the season may be over before selling them out. Prices. — We are glad to read our prices are in conformity with the market, and we hope that you will do your best to be succesful in obtaining some important orders.

Raw material wanting. — Please to inform Messrs. Blanck & Co., and take note for your guidance, that we cannot re-make the style N.º 1729, being unable to find now the raw material at the same conditions as before.

Unequal Dyeing. — It is quite possible that pieces of blue cotton-cloth, dyed the same day, to the same shade, come up differently. In fact when it is a matter of blue indigo, the pieces are dipped in succession, and not simultaneously. This operation continues till the required shade is obtained; hence it is evident that the second piece may have less dye than the first, and so on, as the dye naturally becomes weaker. Please to explain this to our cloth buyers, who are inclined to make complaints, and inform them that we guarantee our dyes as being fast, but do not answer for always striking the exact shade.

VOGHERADear Sir: — We receive with some delay your favor of the 10 th inst. In reply to your claims we beg to state:

Missing piece. — The piece N.º 720 cheviot, was, we are certain, put in the case marked F. R. 14, as it is proved by the gross weight, viz. 190 kilos, stated by the R. R. office at its departure from Voghera, and by our forwarding agent on his shipping it on board the steamer at Genoa. This piece having a nett weight of 20 kilos, which must be noticeable, has been stolen in Sardinia, either on landing or while on the railway truck, or in any warehouse where it may have been deposited even for few hours. We cannot be held answerable for the loss sustained during transit. Did not Mr. Vernengo, on opening the case, remark there was an empty space in it? — Why then has he not drawn up his claim against the Railway Co.?

Imperfect making. — We are sorry to hear what you say about piece N.º 729 having frayings, bars, broken count, and snapped yarns. Please to return it, we will send it back to the factory and take the necessary precautions to avoid any recurrence of the defects.

Pieces too many. — Have the goodness to apologize to Messrs. Costa & Sons if the piece N.º 796 has been sent to them by mistake. Beg them to kindly hand it to Mr. Tancardi having him paying to them the conveyance and duty costs.

Price-list; Rise. — It is out of the question for us to reduce our prices for merinoes, when the London sales denote a rise of 5 per cent, and the material is going up again in Milan, where business is very brisk. We have just sold 50 raw pieces merinoes having 1.10 meters in breath and 10 counts, at Lires 1.05 net, that is 5 centimes above the price we have charged Messrs. Bianchi for colours.

Death of a customer. — We have just heard with pain of the death of Mr. Lewis Vinci. We write by this post, to Messrs. Vinci Bros. & Co. to express our condolence with the loss they have sustained.

Hoping to hear from you soon, we remain

Dear Sir: — In reply to your esteemed favor of the 14 th inst. we beg to note what follows:

Packing. — Boards & Tapes. — As we only use the best articles, we are much surprised that our boards should arrive broken, the tapes, and packing paper spoilt. These damages are surely caused by the Railway men, or at the Customs, when we are no longer responsible for it, the goods being sent at the customer's risk.

Pieces faded away. — The piece N.º 1717 was delivered to the client more than one year ago. It was fast dyed, but it has faded owing to exposure to the gas or sun whilst in stock. All we can do to oblige the customer is to propose to have the piece dyed black, but please to note that we shall not be accountable for any risk and expenses.

Warps. — Difference in Price. — The article 1926 is made with a very strong warp, whereas article 1832, very similar, is made with a weaker one; the difference in the warp explains the difference in price.

Different weft. — The defect the client mentions in the piece 1937 must be caused by a different weft. We are surprised that the piece escaped our foreman's notice. Be so kind as to have it returned and we will credit the customer's account with same.

Wishes of recovery. — We are extremely sorry to hear of Mr. Bonavena, our good friend and customer's illness; please to convey to him our best wishes for his speedy recovery.

Dear Sir: — We confirm our letter of yesterday and beg to answer your favor of the 14 th instant.

Damage in packing. — We notice Mr. Bonzi's claim. If you, personally, verified that the long Cashmere shawl with orange mark had a hole in it when it arrived, allow accordingly. It must have been damaged by a nail in packing the case. Inform us of the allowance granted, we will charge our packer with it.

Refinishing. — Our work being perfect, we cannot meet the claim for refinishing the piece N. 1218. We have judged before sending it away it was useless to refinish it, and we informed of it the client for the purpose of avoiding claims.

Burling. — As regards the piece N.° 1749 we sent to Mr. Mengoli, considering you have seen the burls yourself, please to get it put right and charge us with the burling.

Shrinking. — Shall we shrink the cloth, quality N.° 749, measuring 140 cm. before sending? This is the width of the stuff before being shrunk; you may reckon upon a loss in the width of 10 to 15 cm. after shrinkage.

Yarn dyed & milled article. — The mixture 719 is yarn dyed; while the cashmere is a milled article; the loss in the milling is about 6 per cent, this is the cause of its higher price.

Carded or combed? — We are surprised that after so many years you are transacting cloths, it may have escaped your observation that article 712 is carded, and 617 is combed wool. After this explanation all your claims fall down.

A call announced. — We shall be pleased to receive a visit from Mr. Ballard, a partner of the resp. Firm Gugliani & Co. You may assure him we will do our best to oblige him.

SAVONACOMO

Gentlemen: — Without any favors from you to answer, I drop a few lines to inform you of what follows:

Shiny Satin. — Mr. Boggiani of Ventimiglia claims because style 2521 is too shiny, while the original sample looks more as satin. He insists in refusing the whole commission if you do not consent to an allowance of 30 cent. per meter. For your guidance I beg to say we have to deal with a very obstinate customer.

One count less. — Messrs. Priano of Porto-Maurizio claim on their turn that piece 1318 has one count less than its standard quality. They asks a discount of 10 % on the invoice amount. The manager of said firm is a reasonable man and I hope to be able to settle matters without difficulty.

Reduced prices. — Messrs. Barnabei of Oneglia are inclined to give a commission, as per inclosed specification, amounting to 8000 liras or thereabouts, but as they wish to make an exportation trial, they are asking, in order to be encouraged to it, your giving a turn on prices equal to an extra discount of 5 %. I would advise you to agree to their desire as I dare say the enterprise will be successful.

Shawls. — Should you send me an assorted collections of shawls, I am sure to sell them out in the neighbouring towns. Common goods of fine appearance would certainly be preferred.

Awaiting your instructions on the aforesaid items, I remain

*Mr. R. BecchiSAVONA

Dear Sir: — We hasten to reply to your favor of the 15 th inst. what follows:

Shiny satin 1421. — Mr. Boggiano's claim in reference to style 1421 is without foundation. This article being made with bright satin yarn, must necessarily shine. In comparing the sample, cut from the piece sent, with the original sale sample, we find no difference whatever, so that we cannot consent to an allowance of 30 cent. per meter, as we do not wish to sell under cost price. Let the customer return the piece, you shall easily sell it. Please to note that we cannot replace it with another quality, so that we give up selling him this article.

One count wanting. — The claim in reference to the piece 1318 is just. After examining the sample sent, we recognize that the piece has one count less than its standard quality. Please to settle the matter with Mr. Piano to our mutual advantage.

A turn on the price. — Have the goodness to inform Messrs. Barnabei, with whom we are doing an important amount yearly, that we will execute their order at the reduced prices which you transmit, but specify clearly that this favour must not form a precedent in future.

Shawls. — We are disposed to meet your wish, but do you mean long or square shawls? Would it be preferable to send you shawls with simple or knotted fringes? Your request is not clear enough.

MONTEVIDEO

Dear Sirs: — Mr. Benito Diaz, our representative in your town, informs us that you regularly ship in our harbour a considerable number of barrels of oil and wine destined to your warehouses in Montevideo. We therefore beg to offer you our service as Agents, both directly in Genoa, for the expedition of same, and through our representative in your town, for their landing and clearing at Montevideo.

As we are since many years devoted to this branch of business and well informed with the customs and uses of both harbours, you can be sure we will dispatch with the greatest quickness and attention all the numerous formalities required, sparing in the same time many useless costs. As our house is favorably known everywhere, we think it superfluous giving you any reference.

Looking forward to your valued orders, we beg to remain, sir,

Yours ever truly
Marino & Bricchetto.

VENICE-ALA

Dear Sirs: — We confirm our respects of the 17 th inst., which crossed with your favor, of same date, just now to hand. We hasten to repeat that the delay elapsed in forwarding the case in question was occasioned by the Italian custom-house office.

The inspector, having ascertained some irregularities, either in the quality, or in the value, or in the weight of several articles, erroneously declared by you on the form A, owing of course, to an oversight of your clerk, fined us, and as we protested and refused to pay, he had the case detained during two days, until we judged convenient to settle amicably the question paying a fine of 50 liras besides the custom duties amounting to It. Lires 195 in gold, as per invoice sent to you.

With our respects of 17 th inst. we duly informed Messrs. Brabanti of the incident occurred and, in order to gain some of the time lost, we paid a supplementary sum of liras 11.25 to obtain the case conveyed by passengers' train from Ala to Milan.

We are persuaded you shall approve what we have done, if you consider the singularity of this occurrence, and will have the goodness to credit us with 271 liras, amount of our invoice, a duplicate of which please to find herewith.

Always dedicated to your valued orders, we remain, sirs, yours truly

BUENOS AYRES

Dear Sirs: — We have been favoured to-day with your esteemed letter of the 28 th December last, the contents of which had our best attention. We are telegraphing to Mr. Baraña of Marseilles, your forwarding Agent, asking him about the package marked N. L. & Co. N.º 1718, which to our great surprise, we hear, you have not yet received. We solicit him also to inform you thoroughly by the first post.

The Marseilles line is doubtless cheaper, but very slow; we had constantly to suffer delays in transmissions; to avoid them, we, except contrary dispositions of our friends, always forward now our sendings to America « Via Bordeaux » as this place is the leaving-port of all the best transatlantic Companies having on their lines the swiftest steamers running on a direct route.

We much regret the inconvenience this delay causes you, as we hear it is already too late for the sale of the goods contained in the package ; however, although we are anxious to please you in all that is possible, we must decline all responsibility in this transaction. Our goods were delivered to date, and we have strictly followed the instructions contained in your favour of the 15 th November last. As to the forwarding agent you selected him yourselves, we did not even know him formerly, so that, exclusive of main force or stress of weather accidents, he is the only responsible for this delay.

We believe that you will entirely agree with us.

We presented a regular claim to the Collector of the customs, who will submit the question to the central commission at Rome, and within a couple of weeks the decision will be known.

Dear Sir: — We hasten to apprise you that a fresh decree of the Central Government, which shall be in force on the 1st March next, prescribes that any merchandise imported into Brazil from Italy, is to have, in an absolute manner, the labels and any other writing on it, drawn up in the Italian tongue in order to enjoy the benefits of the special tariffs. Should that not be accomplished, the goods are to be taxed according to the general book of rates, which, as you are aware of, is about 15% higher. — That for your special guidance.

*To the Presidentof the Chamber of Commerce & ArtsGENOA

Sir: — I beg to call your attention on the fact that, though Holland has hitherto kept on free trade, it must now, in order to guard from foreign competition, adopt the protecting system now-a-days in force all over Europe..

The Dutch government therefore presented to the States-General a bill of reforms on the custom-duties, in which Italian produce is especially aimed at. According to this bill a duty ad valorem on following articles is proposed; viz:

- a) Preserved vegetables and fruits - wax candles - feathers - umbrellas - paintings - artistical furniture - mirrors, and crystal fancy-goods, are to pay from 5 to 6 per cent.
- b) Oranges and lemons will be taxed, 8%; and dry fruits of every description, 10%.
- c) Candied orange & lemon peels will be charged 18 fl. per 100 Kgs., and so forth.

I have not the least doubt that the Italian Foreign Office and the Minister of Agriculture, and the Board of Industry and Commerce have already thought how to protect the interest of our country against the new menace to the development of our export trade.

At all events it would not be out of the purpose that your Honble Chamber should solicit His Ex. the Minister of Commerce to make due applications in order that the Italian exportation should not be prejudiced in its vital interests.

I remain, sir, your most obedient servant.

F. Vandoni.

ROSARIO

Dear Sirs: — We have examined the account current you sent us last week, which was settled up to December 31st of last year. We have found it on the whole correct, with the following slight exception, on which we shall easily come to an understanding.

You credit us for your draft of December 17th with $ 7.000 at 30 days' date, that is due on the 16th January, while it was drawn at 15 d/d and paid in fact on the 2nd inst. This oversight gives rise to a difference of interests in our favor at 4 1/2 pr. ct. annually for 15 days on $ 7.000, viz. $ 12. Consequently instead of $ 5.894 we shall carry forward the balance of $ 5.906 to your debit, for you shall, no doubt, agree to it.

We shall only expect an answer in case you should still differ from us. Hoping you will continue to favor us with your orders, we heartily return you our best wishes for the New Year and remain

Yours very sincerely

Dear Sir: — On checking our invoice-book, we find we made a slight error, in your disadvantage, in reckoning the piece sent you on the 15th August last, as follows:

FL. 43.25 meters of flannel at marks 3.45 should be Mk. 105.95 and not, as we charged , 115.95
thus a difference in less of Mk. 10.—

Please reduce the amount of our invoice from Mk. 2718.95 to Mk. 2708.95. Kindly admit our apologies for this oversight and accept our best regards.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sirs: — We have your invoice N.° 475 of the 16 th instant to hand. We perceive the following mistakes in the calculations:

- a) R. P. 29 meters at Mk. 1.73 a meter, makes Mk. 50.75 and not 507.50; of course it is an error in the punctuation.
- b) The addition of lengths in the first column ought to be 218 meters and not 228; and the multiplication of the piece N.° 705 (28 meters at Mk. 2.45) is completely wrong.

Please forward us a correct invoice by return of post.

Yours very truly

Dear Sirs: — We beg to hand you herewith the invoice N.° 475^{bis} corrected, amounting to Mk. 1724.35 which cancels our precedent one sent on the 16 th inst. under N.° 475.

We beg to apologize for the errors committed that were involuntary and merely material, owed in part to the enormous quantity of invoices drawn up in that day by a clerk fresh admitted, who, perhaps, was still wanting of the calm necessary to a book-keeper intrusted with the accounts of a large factory as ours.

Admit meanwhile our best regards.

After finding it correct, kindly draw upon us at sight, informing us at once in order that we may prepare a good welcome to your signature.

Dear Sir: — I delayed acknowledging receipt of your favour of the 18th August because I waited for the arrival of the articles ordered you. The packages arrived at last, and having unbaled the goods, I ascertained, with great surprise, they are much inferior to the patterns presented to me by your traveller, while the prices charged are, for several articles, superior to those agreed upon; add to this. that two pieces appear to be faded away.

Therefore, without advancing any further recrimination, I inform you that, if you do not

Dear Sir: — I am so surprised at the contents of your letter of the 1st inst. that I cannot put faith in them. I was far from expecting such an unfairly dealing after the good informations I had of you.

Convinced of the injustice of the reproaches you advance to justify your behaviour, I propose to let the goods examined by legal experts, and I authorize you to have my warehouse visited by whom you wish, in order to ascertain if I have in it a single piece in any way damaged or faded away.

As to prices, they are the same signed on the duplicate of the order-sheet, which my traveller left on your hands before leaving, a copy of which I subjoin, should you have lost same; compare it and you will see I am right. I dare hope that reflecting upon it, you shall change your opinion and act according to the rules of sincerity, which must always be respected in commercial transactions, and you shall keep for your account the commission ordered to my clerk. As it was beforehand agreed upon, I am awaiting from you a promissory note at 60 days for the integral amount of the invoice, if not I shall be obliged, against my will, to take legal steps.

s/s « Bourgogne » having arrived here I am also in possession of the 10 cases shipped to my address. I am sorry to say the shawls are not at all what I wrote for. My order says: 2 grosses shawls of assorted patterns and lively colors, 180/180. Those received, besides being of a very inferior quality, are of dim colors, and I shall be obliged to leave them for your account, if we cannot come to an agreement in the matter. You should know, as well as I, that this class of goods is almost unsaleable in our market; but as I am not in favor of discussions I will consent to take same, selling them in the interior at reduced prices, if you make me an allowance of 15% on their total amount. I have no doubt you will acknowledge the equity of my proposition, and therefore I expect your reply in the affirmative by the first mail. In case you do not accept it, be pleased to point out any firm here who will receive the shawls for you, and reimburse me the expenses on them. I am Gentlemen,

Dear Sir: — We hasten to answer your favour of the 12th instant. We beg you to excuse us for the involuntary mistake made by our store-overseer. We personally remarked, when the goods were already in transit, that instead of two grosses shawls of the "Splendor" type, the packer embaled two grosses of the "Excelsior" type, which were at hand in cause of the numerous sendings we made last week.

You are perfectly right and we apologize for it to you, but a discount of 15% would cause a considerable loss to us. Let us settle matters as good friends and let us fix a bounty of 10%. Dear Sir: — We have received the 10 hogsheads Sugar ordered from you, when passing through our town on business. The quality being very inferior from the sample you exhibited, we leave these goods for your account. This sugar is too brown, full of molasses and impure; it is perfectly unsaleable in our stores, no one will look at it because all our clients are accustomed to buy selected types.

Before we ordered these goods from you we showed you, certainly you remember of that, a quality of sugar coming from a mill of your neighbourhood, which we found almost unsaleable for its being too dark and too greasy. We stated you if yours were such goods, you needed not send us any. You promised to forward us a choice article, light colored and dry, but with our great surprise we see that the 10 hds received have the very same fault at a highest degree.

Please therefore to dispose of these goods and credit us for the amount, because we cancel absolutely our purchase.

Gentlemen: — We hasten to reply to your esteemed post-card of the 14th inst.

If the two Hunters' tool-cases you bought in our warehouse, when your Mr. Colina had the kindness to call upon us last March, were only sent off on the 6th inst. with the goods ordered from our Agent Mr. Bengal, it is because up to that date we had no important delivery to send you, and, having Mr. Colina not manifested any haste, we thought we were studying your interest in keeping them back, so as to be able to group sendings as much as possible.

You mention not having ordered the two small ladies' travelling-cases. This item figures, however, on our representative's order sheet, a copy of which he left in your hands. Kindly refer to it while we are writing to Mr. Bengal respecting same. In any case, being this a much looked for article we daresay you can easily sell it. If to the contrary, however, please hold the two cases in question subject to our Agent's orders. At his first call he shall reimburse you for carriage and duties sustained, and dispose of them at once at Florence where our customers are great sellers of such articles and are continually asking for them.

Dear Sirs: — We beg to acknowledge receipt of your esteemed letter of the 30th May last enclosing an invoice.

The packages arrived here yesterday, and after examining the hides we observed that some of them, particularly those of kids, have cuts caused by the flayer's knife. As to the price of 5 frs., you charged for the lamb-skins, we find it exorbitant because we never paid them above frs. 4.50. Packing, besides, is too dear. As we are certain our friends of Lonigo will remonstrate on both subjects, we hope you will grant us an abatement on the amount, being this the only way to avoid claims. It is our opinion that reducing your invoice to 1100 frs., you still have a profit left on the sale, and we shall be satisfied. Awaiting your kind answer for our guidance, we beg you to accept our best regards.

Dear Sirs: — We took good notice of the contents of your favor of the 2nd instant, which reached us in this moment. Permit us to say to you that we are astonished at the remarks you advance. You have, doubtless, observed in our preceding expeditions, how impossible it is not to meet, in the whole parcel, any skin somewhat touched by the flayer's knife. We must accept these hides together with the good ones, because no seller would permit us to make a choice. As to the lamb-skins, you know, certainly, that their price varies according to market rates, and just in the latter days a considerable advance was noticed because merchants are almost bare of this article. You can rest convinced of it by consulting the last price-current we enclose herewith; you should have asked it of us before giving the commission. We hand you also the packer's account, and we assure you that hardly we could have found another who would work at a cheaper price.

The observations which we beg to make will persuade you that it is impossible to us to grant you the allowance asked of us. We are of opinion that your friends of Lonigo will know how to apprise the quality of the goods, and being informed of prices quoted nowadays, will spare the remarks which you fear they may make. Dear Sir: — I receive just now your letter of the 5 th inst., in which you make me a thousand reproaches for not having answered yours two you have written precedently to me. I pray you to suspend your judgment a moment, and to grant me the favor of hearing what was the cause of my silence. I confess it has been long but, be assured, it did, by no means, depend from indifference, but from what I am going to tell you. Since my last letter of July, I had not a single moment left to take a pen and to write a line. I could only think of my friends and I have suffered enough myself in not being able to carry on a correspondence with them in cause of the following mishap:

In the month of August, my partner N. Banos, manager of our branch-house at Uruguayana, died; I was consequently obliged to remove there in order to settle all outstanding accounts. I was forced to spend in that town two months, leaving, in the interim, to the cares of my head-clerk the chief-office at Bahia with the particular charge to dispatch only these affairs which could not suffer delay lest causing damages.

You see then, there is a greater reason to pity me than to blame me, and my silence proceeds rather from constraint than from any fault of mine. I have eagerly seized this first favorable opportunity to take up our correspondence and tell you I am always your very affectionate friend

Torreblanca

Dear Sir: — We are in receipt of your letters of the 10th and 12th instant. We were disposed to send you our collection of samples when we received a protested bill of Mr. Nazar for non-payment.

After the informations you gave us, we hardly expected this. As we desire to do business only with true first rate houses, we prefer to abandon the exportation to Torreblanca, rather than to be always on the look out.

We should have liked to see you doing a good trade, but, although convinced that you have acted for the best in our interest, and that we have no reproach to make you, we beg you not to rely upon our collection, at least for the present season.

Accept, dear Sir, our best respects.

MARSEILLES

TOULON

Dear Sir: — During these ten years I have been established in commerce, my protectors could be convinced I was worthy of the confidence they honored me with because, far from compromising their interest, I consciously met any engagements I had contracted with them. But these last two years, beside being involved in the failures of several customers of mine, other clients suspended temporarily their payments, so that I was forced to suffer a loss of 50 % for some of them, and to accept of others the condition to be balanced within twenty four or thirty six months.

To front my obligations I was bound to undergo such sacrifices that my loss in these last two years ascended to one hundred and fifty thousand francs. To fill up the measure, the proceeds from sales reached only half the normal amount of last seasons, and most goods are still in my warehouse unsold. I find myself now in the impossibility of facing payments, my capital being reduced to daily collections.

In this critical situation I thoroughly examined all the means I could still have a recourse to, and, decided not to contract any debt I might not surely pay in future, I resolved to lay before my creditors the balance, a copy of which please to find enclosed, exhibiting my present situation and offering them 12/- in the pound payable in the space of one year in two equal parts, due every six months.

I feel confident that, considering well the peculiar circumstances in which I find myself, in spite of my best exertions, you will accept my proposal and inform me of it at the soonest possible. Trusting you shall not withdraw your confidence in my misfortune, I remain, sir, your very obed't servant

Dear Sir: — You were probably informed of the bad news regarding the bankruptcies of the most important firms of Roumania, but Mr. Mircesca's failure was the finishing stroke for my interests already somewhat compromised.

I struggled against adversity these six months, but all in vain. You may easily guess my regret and image my present situation in such bad a scrape which forces me to stop payment. Neither my conscience, nor the funds I dispose of, can permit me to continue any longer business, betraying my creditors' confidence and causing them, in spite of myself, a serious damage.

However we must not lose courage, but try to front this unlucky event, for I do not put me out of hopes to succeed in it if I meet with the generous indulgence and the friendly protection which I dare still ask of you. Should you be inclined to help me, as I do not doubt, kindly appoint a person of your whole trust, provided with a regular proxy, who is to be present, on the 31st instant, at my creditors' general meeting, assembled by chartered accountant Mr. Vrag, at his office N. 118, New Street. There I will submit to their examination the balance-sheet exhibiting my present situation, and I will give all those explanations which may be asked of me and follow blandly their decision, which will lead me to rehabilitation.

Creditors are called on the 31 st inst. at Mr. Vrag's (118, New Street) with the aim to decide whether an amiable arrangement may come about or matters have to take legal course. Gentlemen: — You have assisted us in our undertakings for many years with so much friendliness that it pains us doubly to have to give you to-day the doubtless unexpected news of our insolvency.

A retinue of misfortunes, which we tried hitherto to face in spite of great sacrifices lest to dishonor our signatures, took us on a path which, unluckily too late we see, is leading to ruin. Under these circumstances we think we may venture to count upon the sympathy of our friends, and hope you will not deny us yours, though we are painfully aware of the loss you must suffer through us.

You have it in your power, as principal creditors, to ameliorate our position considerably, if, convinced of the correctness of the enclosed balance-sheet, you consent to our proposal to pay you eight shillings in the pound, four at 6 months' and the other four at nine months' date. If our circumstances should again become prosperous, you are sufficiently acquainted with our character to believe that it is no empty form of speech ours, when we assure you that the possibility of being able later to indemnify you fully, will give us real pleasure.

Pray to answer us, if possible soon and favorably, and do not withdraw your friendship in our misfortune because we attach too much value to it. We remain, sirs, with much respect and sincere thanks Gentlemen: — The contents of your letter of the 12 th instant were not so unexpected as you imagined, as we knew of your loss in the insurance lawsuit before the English Court of Admiralty at London. It was, unluckily, a very bad speculation of yours that of taking legal steps. You should have come to terms or make a compromise through arbitrators, and not run the risk of an avoidable sentence for damages and costs. Nevertheless under present circumstances, having examined your balance-sheet, we will agree to your proposal to pay us forty per cent, or eight shillings in the pound, and only require you to be strictly exact in your payments. Under this condition only, we, as your principal creditors, will advise the other firms here, who have also lost through you, to accept your proposals. To render parleys easier, please hasten the meeting of your creditors at Messina as much as possible, and when you have their consents inform us of it, as their example may induce others to be indulgent.

Gentlemen: — I can no longer defer disclosing to you the unfortunate position in which I have been placed by the losses I sustained through the failure of Mr. Bernet of Rouen. I had unhappily confided large sums to this gentleman, who, up to the last days, was considered by every one as perfectly solvent. This unexpected event deprived me all at once of the funds required to meet my liabilities and I have been obliged to sacrifice many a thing without any real benefit.

I will no longer attempt to struggle against these misfortunes, as nothing is left to me but to request of my creditors the consent to a prolongation of the bills they hold. In spite of so many losses, I still hope to be able to recover from them in time by pains-taking and privation; no effort, I assure you, shall be spared to effect it. Fully convinced that my creditors will not deprive me of this last chance of safety left to me, I decided on convoking them on Monday the 20th inst. at 10 o'clock *A. I, JOSEPH MOLINA LL.D. of the city of Barcelona, Notary Public by lawful authority duly admitted and sworn, inscribed in the Notarial Council of this district, called on Mr. L. MENDEZ in his office situated at N. 19, Exchange Str., where I met a gentleman who told me he was Mr. L. MENDEZ, in person and I did exhibit the original bill here above copied and demanding acceptance thereof or motive of refusal, I was answered by him that « he refused acceptance because the cast-iron ware, furnished by drawers, was full of pores and roughly wrought; and besides it arrived with a remarkable delay, so that he pretends a discount of 10% or a longer respite for payment ».

Therefore I, the said Notary, do protest for all damages, charges, interests, and for anything else to be protested, against those whom it may concern, and I have drawn up this instrument, which I sign after reading, delivering it to the requesters.

I cannot understand how you value so little your reputation by neglecting to take the necessary steps in order to satisfy your engagements, and how you may be so inconsiderate to contract them without any possibility to honor the same. Gentlemen: — Our Agent Mr. C. Peacock, at Sunderland, has informed us that your s/s the « Polar Star » is engaged from Cardiff for Genoa, and we therefore beg to offer you our services as Ship-Agents and Brokers, requesting you to entrust to us the business and interest of your vessel at this port.

Having been established here for many years, we are fully acquainted with all customs and usages of this place, and if you favour us with your instructions, you may, no doubt, depend on ship's interest being strictly looked after, delivery of cargo being sharply checked, and that we will strenuously resist those vexatious claims so often made by merchants without foundation, and keep all expenses down to the lowest point. We will give our utmost attention to secure very quick dispatch, this matter being quite safe with us as we are large barge-owners ourselves, keeping many lighters of our own, which we send to assist receivers in discharging, as they are frequently short of same themselves.

If you wish we will be happy so send you a list of all expenses your vessel will incur in at our port, and feel confident you are to find them very moderate.

Respecting the safety of freight to be collected and our own good landing, we can give you full guarantee, and all informations can be obtained of our bankers here, Messrs. ROSSI BROS. qm. LEONARD. Those Agents in London are Messrs. W. J. HAMBRO & SONS.

Besides this, if you wish, we will remit one-half freight on arrival, and the balance immediately after delivery of cargo, or it can be remitted by our bankers themselves if preferred for greater safety. Hoping to be honored with your favorable reply and trusting you will be pleased to hand to your Captain a letter on our behalf, we anticipate you our best acknowledgments and remain, Gentlemen, your obed't servants

ANNEXEDNATIONAL MARINE NOTARY'S OFFICE*BUENOS AYRES*Captain Landi's Protest.

In the city of Buenos Ayres this 30th day of June 191... before me, the National Marine Notary, and before the witnesses hereafter mentioned, appeared LEWIS LANDI, master of the Italian steamship "Nemos „, accidentally resident at N. 121 Cuyo Str., personally known to me, who declared what follows:

That, acting as Master of said steamer, a staunch and sound vessel in every way fitted for the voyage, he left, with a general cargo on board, on the 12th April last, the harbour of Genoa and sailed, without any accident worth mentioning, untill the 10th of May though he had met with a rough sea and strong winds so as to ship many a sea.

That in said day he called at the port of St. Vincent for coaling and, having completed the bunkers supply, on the same evening he weighed anchor and sailed, without any special event until the 19th day of May, with a fresh wind and a rough sea, which often washed the vessel's deck and caused her a heavy rolling and pitching.

That having sounded the well, it resulted that more water than the normal quantity was in it, so that all pumps were worked to diminish it.

That during this operation it was observed that the water pumped out contained materials composing the cargo.

That on the 20th inst. the chief engineer told him the screw-shaft had broken, adding that at reduced speed the engine could work still some time.

That, under these circumstances, after having heard his officers' opinion, he decided to change direction and sail for the harbour of Bahia, availing himself of the main sails and of the engine working at half speed.

That signals of distress were made hoping they might be seen by some vessel sailing in those waters.

That at six o'clock P. M. a steamer was seen abaft which resulted to be the "Nelson," of Brazilian flag, the captain of which, after having agreed for the price, took the "Nemo," in tow to Bahia, where she arrived on the 21st of May.

That in said port all necessary repairs were executed, the best it was possible, with the intervention of the Italian consul, the Lloyd's agent, and the Representative of the insured firms, and on the 27th the "Nemo," left for Buenos Ayres where she arrived on this 3rd day of June after having experienced, during this last passage, a hard rolling and a violent pitching.

That in consideration of what he manifested, he protests to-day against all those it may concern for the damage which may result to the cargo, for demurage and costs arising from his having been obliged to put into Bahia in distress, and for any prejudice and any consequences thereof, and he reserves to himself the right to claim for all aforesaid causes as a general average or otherwise as it may result expedient.

In witness whereof he signed this protest before me and the witnesses who have hereunto subscribed.

Dear Sir: — I received the day before yesterday the 12 packages forwarded by you on the Spanish s/s "Carmen," Cap. Barroso master, but I regret to say a considerable portion of the goods are completely ruined. The steamer having experienced a heavy storm, the salt water poured into the hold and damaged the greatest part of the cases. The Nos 18, 24 & 31 are the only ones that came to hand sound, thanks to the inward tin-boxes; all the others are seriously injured. To prove the damage, I had the legal document drawn up, and I hand it to you under registered cover, so that you may claim the loss of the underwriters.

Be kind enough to send me again, as soon as possible, all the goods composing this shipment, except those contained in cases Nos. 18, 24 and 31. I only await your reply to know what is to be done with the damaged articles, and assuring you of my readiness to serve you at all times, I am, sir, yours faithfully

OF UNDERWRITERS
LONDON*Report N. 745.*

MARITIME INTELLIGENCES.

Ischia, February the 8th.

The brig schooner "Tristano Jerarche „ wrecked on this coast; she is insured for 14.000 lire in the George Calimasio Co. of Chio. The crew abandoned the vessel taking with them victuals and clothes. The Captain entered a deed of abandonment and is now awaiting the reply of the Insuring Company.

Said brig was built at Syra in 1915 and was copper-sheathed three years ago; she has a burden of 277 T. R. and is classed under N. 183 (A. 12 - 2 G 1 - 1 pro) at the Austro-Hungarian Veritas'.

Orders are expected to sell her by auction.

Belfast, February the 7th.

A salvage steamer went yesterday morning on the spot where the stranded Italian s/s "Febo „ is lying. The crew had already been taken on shore through boats. The "Febo „ lies, at three miles off from the coast, stranded on a shoal with her bow towards N. O.; she is full of water and in a bad position exposed to all winds. They say her cargo of mineral may be worth 16/— per ton delivered at Glasgow, so that its net proceeds is probably not sufficient to pay the salvage costs.

Montevideo, February the 6th.

The Italian bark "Charles P „, having been dismantled in cause of a violent storm she experienced, was towed into this harbour some days ago and was examined by the surveyors who suggested to dock her in order to make an attentive survey to her hull after the unloading of the cargo.

They value the ship six thousand pounds and the amount of the necessary repairs about nine hundred pounds, exclusive of dock dues. An independent survey is however to take place inasmuch as her cargo is supposed not to be damaged, consequently, to repair her, neither the unloading of the vessel nor her docking should be necessary.

Smyrna, February the 6th.

The position of the English steamer "Plymothian „ is always the same. Her holds are full of water and about 800 tons of goods are wet. If the fine weather sets in, there should be some probabilities of getting the steamer afloat, for her damages, till now, are not very important.

Algiers, February the 6th.

During the violent storm which raged yesterday morning, the sailing vessel "Oleg „, that arrived at this port three days ago, broke her moorings and ran foul of the break-water where she still lies in a very bad position.

Two tugs and several lighters went to assist her and are now trying to get her off.

Liverpool, February the 7th.

The cargo-boat "Fearless „, bound for Hambourg, and the steamship "Patricia „ of Dublin, got into collision in the river. As the "Fearless „ had sprung a large leak they stranded her at Egremont, but there she broke into two pieces and was completely wrecked. The damages suffered by the "Patricia „ are unknown.

MARITIME INTELLIGENCES

London, August the 20th.

The Italian bark "Savoia," whereof Maggiolo is master, arrived sound at Falmouth on the 18th inst. for orders, coming from Babia Blanca whence she sailed on the 16th June last. All is right on board.

Larnaca, (Cyprus), August the 20th.

The Austrian Lloyd mail-steamer "Elektra," (Cap. Hachovich), which left Trieste on the 8th inst. bound for Alexandria, being off cape Kiti had the low pressure cylinder cover and the piston rod broken. She was consequently obliged to cast there anchor and will be probably towed to Berutti by the s/s "Maria Theresa."

Antwerp, August the 20th.

The English cargo-boat "Fernmore," that arrived here from Braila, lost a part of her deck cargo during a violent storm she experienced on her voyage on the 2nd instant.

Goole, August the 20th.

The steamship "Frankfurt," coming from Rotterdam with a general cargo, got last night into collision with the steamer "Rook," loaded with coal and bound for Cowes. The "Frankfurt," suffered very important damages in her hull and the "Rook," had her bow seriously damaged.

Montevideo, August 18 th.

The Nord-American steamer "Dora," going from Mobile to Buenos Ayres, has stranded on the English Bank. Assistance has been sent to her from here.

Natal, August 18 th.

The Italian sailing vessel "Nina Marsaglia," was sold to the Portuguese authorities at Delagoa Bay to be used at Cape Inyack as pilots' guard ship.

London, August the 20 th.

A telegram from Novorossick informs our agency that the English steamer "Cliffon," has stranded in the regions of Soujour Point. Assistance was sent to her. The weather is rather mild and favourable to the salvage operations so that they hope to get her off with a little sacrifice.

New York, August the 20 th.

The French transatlantic liner "La Savoie," sailing from Havre to New York, signaled to have her screw shaft broken.

Tangiers, August the 20 th.

The Swedish steam-boat "Iran," was set afloat and towed into this port. They are going to repair her.

Drummore, August the 20 th.

The English cargo-boat "Gordon," on her voyage from Maryport, loaded with coal, has stranded in Clampart bay near Galloway during a heavy storm. Her engine room is leaky. If the weather gets better there is a hope to set her afloat; meanwhile they are about lightening her.

Berwick, August the 20 th.

The Norwegian three-masted-ship "Maya," sailing from Sunderland, has sunk off the Farne Isles. Her crew is rescued.

Montevideo, August the 20 th.

The English steamer "Lord Robert," from Baltimore, arrived here with a conflagration on board. The fire was put out but the cargo in the main hold is damaged. As soon as unloaded she shall proceed to Buenos Ayres.

Rouen, August the 20 th.

The French steel bark "Trignac," arrived here on the 17 th inst. from Rosario. Having stranded near Guernesey, her hull was seriously damaged under the floating line on a length of about 40 feet and her keel is partly broken or bent in. She will be docked and repaired.

Corcubion, August the 18 th

Divers are going on stopping the leaks of the English steamer "Rosario," that has put in here in distress. The cargo on board presents some difficulties, nevertheless four lighters have already been loaded and it is presumed to have thus lightened her sufficiently.

Hamburg, August 18 th.

The Italian bark "Elisa » (captain De Rosa) arrived here somewhat damaged. She is now repairing on her moorings.

Colombus, August 18 th.

The English steamer "Crusader," on her voyage from Tagal to Port Said, ran foul of the Gafur reefs on the 12 th inst. and is half full of water. A part of the cargo was thrown overboard. The vessel lies in a dangerous position and her salvage depends on the weather conditions. A steam tug of the government is on the spot to assist her.

Stornoway, August the 17 th.

The cargo-boat "Arne," of Christiania bound for Swansea loaded with brimstone, has stranded last night at Barnahull Bay.

The attempts made this morning by the tugs to get her off were unsuccessful. The steamer is lying in a position quite exposed to the sea and winds, and is leaky. Her salvage depends on the conditions of the weather, which is now tolerably fair.

St. Vincent, (Cape Verd) August 16th.

The cargo taken away from the Danish s/s "Drumeruil," which wrecked at Bonavista on the 7th May last, was shipped on the English steamer "Lombardy," bound to Rio Janeiro.

Melbourne, August the 16th.

The surveyors who visited the French bark "Gael," arrived here damaged, valued the cost of repairs in the sum of 3450 pounds, inclusive of towing fees.

VESSELS MET AT SEA

"Olivari," — Italian bark from Gulfport to Buenos Ayres, met on the 3rd of August at 14 miles S. E. from Fowey Rocks by the s/s "Sirio,". All right on board.

FREIGHTS

Calcutta, August 14th.

Freights are dull. For Dundee per steamship they quote 18/9, September shipment.

Norfolk, August 18th.

The Italian steamer "a Fiaucia," was chartered for Savona at 13/3 per ton.

ROSSI & BRUNOSTOCK BROKERS*GENOA

Genoa, December 31 st 191...

Gentlemen,

We call our friends' attention on some securities of flourishing and well managed industrial Companies having an honourable past and a promising future. This Companies' bonds have experienced, we know, a fall, nevertheless we still recommend them to capitalists as a remunerative investment of their funds with a great probability of augmenting their principals and interests.

Elba Mines. — The great rise cast iron experienced lately in England, say from 56 to 63/—, or over 10% per ton, shall bring to this Company a large benefit. They calculate it will amount, for the past exercise, to four millions, with a probable dividend of 25 lire, some one say even 30 lire. Since January 1916 the Company was authorized to augment the yearly put out from 250.000 to 450.000 tons under the obligation however to sell at cost price 180.000 tons to several Italian foundries, so that they shall have still at their disposal 270.000 tons instead of 160.000 they had for the past. The benefit, reckoned on the present price of cast iron, should be of about 40 lire per tons, but, besides these incomes, the Company is to have in future other sources of profit from the new installations about being completed or planned. In fact the Company's bonds are quoted about Lit. 510/512 and look decisively on the rise.

Sliderurgical Works of Savona. — These factories are, as reports run, overcharged with orders, and the renewal and augmentation of the railway fixed and rolling stock, guarantee this Company an abundant and remunerative work for several years, so that it is a general opinion their bonds shall reach in short the high quotation of L. 425.

Italian Iron Foundries. — This Company possesses four large foundries and is greatly interested in the Steel Works at Bolzaneto and in a Lignite Mine at Casteani. They can therefore profit a great deal by the prosperous period that the metallurgical industry is presently in, both in Italy and abroad. A dividend of Lit. 20, perhaps also 22, is probably paid for the past exercise and the price of bonds oscillates between 325/328 lire.

Miani & Silvestri's Mechanic Works. — The two large establishments at Milan and Naples shall be busy for many years with a profitable work, viz: the building of many a thousand cars which the Italian Railways are in great need of. A dividend equal to last year's is to be expected. At present most shares are the property of serious capitalists, so that their price keeps up to 150 lire.

Nebiolo. (Types foundry — Printing machines factory). — The Company's principal works are at Turin but they have also branch houses at Genoa, Milan etc. A part of their production is sent abroad where the Company's mark is favourably known. The capital was raised from 3 to 4 millions in the month of October last. The dividend of 7 % constantly given during the first six exercises, shall be probably also given in future and perhaps still enhanced.

Subalpine Foundries. — Owing to the marvellous development which the mechanical industries have taken in Turin, these foundries are to have a very abundant and remunerative work. The bonds with six months' dividend warrant attached, are quoted L. 230 or thereabouts.

Lombard Ligurian Sugar Refinery. — The Company possesses, in the sugar branch business, two refineries and five factories, and in another industrial branch, a jute bag spinning mill and a distillery. The large refinery at Sampierdarena, which produces daily 3000 cwts., represents by itself almost the half of the sugar consumption in Italy, which is of about two millions cwts. per annum. Shares are quoted this week about L. 400.

North Italian Corn Mills. — They have a capital of 8 millions and their balance sheet shows 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ millions of reserve funds. This Company has five mills in action, which were let out to the "Mill Exercising Company". In spite of the great competition of several mills, the North Italian, even before the agreement, have distributed a dividend of 20 lire. A large fluctuating stock of shares is now the property of firms of good standing, so that their price is of about L. 350.

Genoese Sylos. — The planned enlargements of the Silos, now in course of execution, redouble their capacity, and shall be completed for next season. The present capacity is of 24.000 tons of grain, and when all new works are finished, it shall be of more than 45.000 tons. Sylos bonds are quoted to-day L. 275 and are rather looked for.

We shall be glad to receive your valued orders, and while we are at your disposal for any further informations, we present you our best wishes for the new year, and remain respectfully yours

STOCK BROKERS

GENOA

Genoa January 15th. 191...

Dear Sirs,

In addition to our last "Financial Report," of December 31st we are glad to give you the following further information which we hope may be of some interest to you.

Genoese Electrical Works. — This important Company distributes in Genoa and its neighbourhoods the energy and electrical light and follows the rapid development of the town. The Company has a concession lasting 30 years for the exclusivity of public lighting, and 90 years for the lighting of private buildings, and extends its action from Chiavari to Voltri and from Genoa to Pontedecimo and to Prato respectively, what offers a large prospective of future profits. The last dividend paid was of L. 25.

Union of Manure Producers. — The importance and prosperity of this Union are rapidly growing. They possess presently 27 manure and chemical produce factories in the best regions of the Kingdom, besides the copper pirites mine at Agordo (Belluno). Those who bought last year bonds of this Union have almost redoubled their capitals inasmuch as two dividends of L. 15 have been paid.

Terni Steel-Works. — We only refer the opinions of the partisans and adversaries of these Works.

The optimist say :

1) That no Company ever made so many amortizements and reserves as Terni did.

2) That among the bonds of industrial participations, the Company's balance sheet shows those of the "Siderurgical Works of Savona „ at issue price instead of their present higher value.

3) That the Terni have so many orders as to work during two or three years and that they may, with great probability, distribute a dividend of 90/100 lire.

4) That, though ere this, the armour plates were not perfectly built, now through Krupp's patent and the new installations, they result very satisfactory and stand any competition, and even when their prices were reduced, the Company is to have still a large profit left.

5) That the Government has a great interest to maintain in Italy a first rate establishment for the building of armour plates, as Germany and France do.

The pessimist object

1) That after the Midvale contract was made, the Terni Works monopoly may be considered as completely over.

2) That the Midvale Company may establish a branch factory at Naples.

3) That a New Cabinet might decree to establish a government steel-work of their own, which should be greatly prejudicial to Terni.

Our friends are to judge which opinions have better bases.

Rubattino. — Though the present conventions with the Government should not be prorogated, the Company is on a good standing. The 70.000 new shares shall be equalled to the old ones against payment of the difference for the dividend. In the foregoing years some unlucky events happened: 2 steamers were lost and besides the staff struck work. Let us hope that in future things may be better in every respects. At present bonds bear the price of L. 475.

Venitian Bonds. — Last year a change of the debentures took place: 5 old bonds exchanged against two new ones of L. 200. Since some time these stocks are dull: holders keep them and speculators do not see at present anything to be done with them. The dividend is not yet known and bonds are quoted about L. 225.

Italian wheat Mills. — Though no dividend at all was distributed last year on account of the hard competition arisen among the several factories, these bonds still enjoy a good reputation and the future dividends shall indemnify share-holders, for the now missed compensation, in view of the large part the Company is to have in the profit of the Corn Mill association.

Moto cars Companies. — Last October, it is said, an agreement was signed between the "Far and Velox Companies," under which the former was to give 5000 new shares, to be issued at L. 325 ex-coupon, against 5000 shares of the latter at L. 200, with the faculty to give them back at 250 lire should they not reach above this price on 'Change in the first six months. The dividend is said to be of L. 35 though large redemptions of bonds have been decided. This week Far's shares were quoted about L. 510.

As to the "Rapids," stocks, on account of the successive issues at high premiums and of the profits realized on financial operations, the Company has now a reserve fund of 5 millions and an issued and paid up capital of L. 1.825.000 lire. Rapid's shares are quoted to-day 152 liras.

While we are completely at your disposal to furnish you any further particulars you may require, and to keep you well informed on current rates, either by wire or by sending you our daily report, we remain yours most respectfully

ROSSI & BRUNO.

OBSERVATION

As to telegraphic correspondence it may be observed that all commercial firms of some importance, being obliged every day to have recourse to telegraphy for quick despatching their business, often compile their messages using a special Telegraphic Code, a copy of which they send to each correspondent. They have thus a double advantage that is: of secrecy and of a great economy in the wiring cost, inasmuch as, through a single conventional word, they communicate a complete phrase only known to those who possess a copy of their code-books.

There are also Codes of general use, as for instance: the A. B. C., the Watkins Codes, a copy of which may be bought by everybody for transmitting, through their words, conventional messages to the firms who possess them, which results from the heading of their letters, where "A. B. C. Code or Watkins Code used „ is to be read.
